

Project Brief: Personal Promotion Website for Employers

This promotional website will be a minimalist focused designed website that will take potential employers and recruiters to essentially virtually interact with my resume through webpages. This personal website will allow visitors to explore my personal life, work experience, interests, etc. This website should reflect my personality and who I am as a person while ultimately strengthening employer's interest to reach out to me for potential positions in the workforce.